'Noni the Poni' by Alison Lester A re-tell with a twist! (by Joy 2W)

One day, Noni the Pony hops on a hill to shimmer her mane and tail in the breezing wind. Then she gets apples and carrots and hay to eat and she likes it. When she's full she dances in front of the cows. She leaps and soars. She dances with the ducks and hens kicking her heels up and down.

When she's done she meets new friends: a dog, Dave and a cat, Coco. They play hide and seek beside the creek. She never lets anyone go alone anywhere. When Coco and Dave feel scared in thunder, Noni tells them a story so they are not scared. Sometimes she gets scared in the night thinking that monsters are shaking the trees. When Noni feels scared, Dave and Coco sleep beside her to keep her company.

Smoking Ceremony at GEPS!

by Yara and Malak (2A)

We find out why we had a smoking ceremony at GEPS on the first day of school, so we interviewed Ms Reynolds.

Yara & Mallak: Why did you arrange for a smoking ceremony to be held on our first day of school?

Ms Reynolds: There were three reasons:

- 1. Because 2019 is the year of Indigenous Languages;
- 2. Because it was the first day of the school year and for a clean, fresh start;
- 3. Because we live in Australia and Aboriginal people are the traditional owners of this land.

The President and the Potion By Zaine and Issa (Year 2)

Once upon a time the president went to a party and then he found a potion. "Should I drink it?" said the president. He did and he turned into the king!

He got his crown and got poked by the crown. 'Ouch!" said the king. One of the guards came in and saw blood. It was bad! The president just didn't know how to be king.
